Motto: —>

“It does not matter what I have done

OR

What has been done to me.

What matters is, to let go, so, I can start fresh.

I want to start 'Creating' and 'Co-Creating'
'New', 'Fun', 'Peaceful' and 'Creative' games in life
Especially, The ones I have never 'Created' before.
I AM 'Committed' to let go.”

“I AM” HUMBLED AGAIN AND AGAIN...

October 22, 2013 marks the 40 year anniversary of leaving the old country Iran. It has been a very interesting Healing Journey so far and I am happy and honored to be instrumental in miraculous healing Journeys of so many seekers.

Master Danadoost's Aura

I AM humbled by the way Shafaw (II) 'Healees' have been responding so far.

I AM humbled that I have been instrumental in preparing a Shafaw (II) healing environment for the individuals to realize their choices and take charge of their lives.

I AM humbled that I do not have to do 95% or more of the work and get miraculous results, Healees do!

I AM humbled that Shafaw (II) Healees, thankfully, do at least 85% of the healing work consciously.

People get to address and look at their unresolved life-long issues consciously and without analyzing so that they can 'let go' and start fresh regardless of "What happened".

The motto is: "It does not matter what I have done, nor what is done to me!"

I also kick myself royally for why "I did not bring Shafaw (II) to people's attention a lot sooner!"

I AM amazed by the fact that sometime I ask just 'One' qualified Shafaw question and 'charges' start to release non-stop for hours if I let it. Sometimes, the charges of a life time or more is released with one question (the question may be different with every one).

I am thrilled to announce that since 2010, I started to teach Shafaw (II) so that more people can benefit.

Here are some brief comments/testimonials from Shafaw (II) sessions I would like to share with you from different people who have very different backgrounds and life experiences:

Please note that there are 9-sessions in each series of Shafaw (II) and each session is called a "Day".

January 1, 2013

Dear Behrooz,

Happy New Year to you and your family. May this year bring continued good health, prosperity and fulfillment.

Your healing presence and gift have helped me through something that I knew about but didn't know about and that has caused confusion and pain for much of my life. One night, about six weeks after our last Shafaw 2 session, I had a body sensation of reclaiming that part of myself that had been stolen at such a young age. And I felt the confusion and pain start to lift. Now I feel more present, less afraid and less vulnerable. Things will take a while to realign and integrate, but already I feel so different, freed from the tyranny of my mind and how it has tried to make sense of the early experience.

From as deep a place in my heart as I know how, I want to say to you how thankful I am for this blessing and this healing.

With love and gratitude

MAY, 2012 Jane Hamilton's Testimonial from her Shafaw (II) experience in 2010

Jane Hamilton had private Shafaw (II) sessions before demonstration on May 22, 2010

Demonstration of a Shafaw (II) Healing Method

“I was gifted the opportunity to participate in a demonstration of a certain Shafaw healing method that Master Danadoost has been using with me for three weeks. This method differs from the healing method of bringing the healee to a higher vibration level so that they can better receive light directly from source. Instead it works with releasing and clearing the charges from specific stuck energies using the power of the emotions associated with those charges as a vehicle to bring them closer to the surface. This method is especially effective with me since I have easy access to the emotions.

I had met several of the students before. Master Danadoost introduced me and asked me to meet each person individually and shake hands, make physical contact and linger for a minute to become familiar with each person's energy and warmth. This helped me to feel very safe and welcome and appreciated, held by the group.

We sat in chairs in front of the group and Master Danadoost asked me to share with the group what has happened so far in our sessions. Not so much the content of our sessions but how my experience of the healing method has been. I told the group that there was some deeply held stuck energy from incidents that occurred at the very beginning of my life, before I had words or very many memories. I said that I had used many healing modalities to help clear away a lot of it and that I had made much headway but the energetic imprint of those incidents still remained and their undercurrents were still present in my life.

I said that when using this healing method, I have been so impressed to find that the charges, once they are removed, do not return. Another packet of stuck energy moves into position to be cleared but once cleared they have not come back.

Master Danadoost invited me to begin. He explained to the group that we sometimes used certain words that triggered these energies.

It took me a while to get comfortable enough to open my feelings in front of the group and also in front of a video camera.

I started talking about how much responsibility I had for myself at a very young age. He asked me how old. I said even as an infant and a toddler. My Father died suddenly when I was 2 weeks old and my Mother with 4 other children did not have support or grounding for herself or to anchor us. We were taken care of by different people in groups of two or three. I was left with a very cold nervous aunt. I had different caretakers for years, with very inconsistent bonding. I didn't really talk about my story during the session or describe these events, but pieces of them were flashing in front of my eyes. I felt the crushing weight of my own existence, unheld.

I started to grieve deeply, crying so hard I felt I was quaking inside, while Master Danadoost held me and helped move the rising charges away from me. I felt perfectly safe to experience that depth of grief, even in front of others.

I kept talking about being a baby and at the same time referring to my brand new granddaughter, Esme, who was just born 2 weeks earlier. She is the first grandchild. Her parents, my son and his wife, have known each other from the day they were born and our families have always been close. They know each other so very well and they have a very well developed love and communication with one another. Esme entered into a wonderful safe completely supported world and in experiencing her arrival, I felt very poignantly how it contrasted with the beginning of my own life and also with the birth of my own children. I grieved very deeply for what I had missed even though I had such joy for her fortune.

At one point I said that any time I brought up these particular feelings of grief I started to feel like it was selfish and self-centered of me to make such a big deal out of it. Master Danadoost turned it around for me and pointed out that I was using a hypnotic command again and again to limit the expression of grief. I cannot remember what the words were. He had me think of other things I do that I do just for me and asked me if they were self-centered, Or if that was wrong?

I went back to the grieving with my attention bouncing back and forth between Esme and myself as a baby. At a certain point it seemed like a good time to stop. Master Danadoost asked me to remember the peace of Esme, to imagine holding her and to enter into a shared space with her and join her in her peace and security. That was amazing!

He also suggested that I do this often to experience what I missed a long time ago by sharing that space with her. Brilliant!

While we did this he was using Shafaw (II), clearing and talking in a very loving way, asking me to receive.

After we talked about what had happened. Then I read several pages out loud about grief and how it manifests in a person. It was about recent grief but some of it applied to my stored and complicated grief.

I felt very connected and grounded by the end and also very lucky to have been given this opportunity to heal and share with others in their learning.” Jane Hamilton.

Hi, my name is Cathy Guthrie and I am in the second Series of Shafaw II, session #6.

Greetings Master Danadoost,

I was at the Nurses-Station, where I work, hearing a conversation between one of the doctors and some nurses about different people having life- changing experiences after removing the memory of traumatic experiences in their body. The doctor, (an osteopath,) gave examples of releases from patients.

The story the patients conveyed was unimportant! The important part was the release of the charges around, in and through the story. The difference, between the osteopath's method of release and Shafaw II with Master Healer Danadoost, is that in the case of Shafaw II, the released charges will not be able to come back.

With my own experience of Shafaw II, I can tell you that:

- I feel like I have more since my last session. More time, more inspiration, more relaxations.
- It is easier to relate to others, I have more understanding without judgment.
- I am establishing boundaries, with my housemate, people at work, a friend that I worked for; and I am becoming more tactful with this process.
- I notice I breathe deeper, and take more deep breaths
- I am more present, free from analyzing everything.

- I am less angry.
- I am less defensive.
- There is less projection about others.
- I am less judgmental about how I look.
- RE: GRIEF AND PAIN- I became aware of body parts holding grief and pain, I experienced the release.
- I became aware of an agreement to have an injury and healing.
- I became aware of the stories leading to a similar theme in another story and leading to the source and being done with that one.

Thank you, Master Danadoost for all work with this process. Thank you for your unconditional love and support. Working with you has been life transforming, Many Blessings, Cathy

January 9, 2012

Looking back in time I see myself as a gigantic spider sitting in the middle of a thick web. The web resembles an ordinary one with an enormous exception: it is woven with my own unexpressed and trapped emotions due to my life time traumas of all sorts, Personal, community, and global. Apparently, the web's function has altered unlike any webs that serve the spider for survival; this web instead, has trapped the spider herself. Eventually, the web developed a life of its own taking over the spider as a prisoner.

As a prisoner of my own web, I often had visitors. Several of my usual and most annoying ones were worry and its very intimate friend anxiety, which came by with various intensities. For most part the visits were manageable. Until they became extremely annoying forcing me to seek healing.

There was also another visitor that periodically called on me. This one was depression. As I knew all my visitors quite well, I knew the nature of this one was very insidious and greedy. It could have stayed for days if I didn't make the visits less comfortable. To get rid of this unwanted visitor, I shook the web as hard as I could to make the visits as short as possible. Nevertheless, once in a while depression managed to spend a little extra time around.

When I began Shafaw 2 healing, I only had an idea what it was supposed to do for me. But what it has done for me is beyond imagination. The healing happened right in the first session and in a few more sessions I unloaded some heavy old emotions that I had carried on for years.

My web finally loosened up and mostly diminished and I was on the way to experience a new me. Soon, I experienced lightness, joy, deeper concentration, and connection with everything and everyone around me. In addition, my allergies faded and I regained my sense of smell!

I realize that I still have some strands of this web lingering on which I intend to eliminate by receiving more healing. The emotional charges that I released were replaced by more positive energy and capability, enabling me to handle daily life challenges with much lighter attitude.

I feel fortunate to have received the most powerful and amazing healing by Master Danadoost. I deeply appreciate him for helping me regain lightness of my being and highly recommend Shafaw 2 to all who are in search of their own.

With lots of love and appreciation,
Hayedeh

Sunday Oliver's testimonial....

Hello Mary Grace,

I'd thought to send this testimonial sooner, but to tell the truth I've only just gotten to the point of being able to be coherent on the subject. (Wonder if that would be enticing or repugnant to other seekers?)

I do want to do a second round of Shafaw II as Master Danadoost suggested, I look forward to more.

Mine was a slightly weird case as it involved some Shafaw I as well. So I'm giving you two paragraphs; one on the more physical aspects, another on the ones that had to do more with my psyche. I do realize they are pretty much interchangeable, but I'm thinking of people with CFIDS/ME/CFS and what they will be looking for.

The first paragraph is in language most will understand, so that they know Shafaw can touch these things. Many people including doctors purport to be able to cure this, and many of them are completely ignorant of the actual physiology of the disease, preferring their own theories - which leave patients at best in anger and despair and at worst provokes massive heart attacks and other organ disasters.

Those health practitioners don't use the language because they haven't bothered to really investigate what goes on in the disease. If you feel it would be offensive to use the word hell (practically a term of art in CFIDS/ME/CFS land), then I have a footnote below that gives an approximation of what that means in this context. It's not at all metaphorical; it's the shortest and most accurate way of describing a condition.

And speaking of shorter and more accurate: do feel free to cut these if you need to. Or send it back to me for reworking; I'd like this to be as useful as possible.

So, here we go, paragraph 1 and paragraph 2:

My CFIDS/ME/CFS is gone! How do I know? Because there's a kind of buzzy vibration or a scent that goes with that illness, that is no longer there. But there are many other, more physical proofs: I find it more restful to sit up than to recline these days, which tells me that my cardiovascular system has changed, and I no longer have to check in with myself to be sure I can stand at any given moment. I can do something and then do something after that and then do something after that - for hours - and then the next day I can do it again. It's amazing. My fine motor coordination is back, and my ability to understand words both written and spoken, and to write and speak myself; when I am using my mind, there's no more hissing and sparking in my wiring.

There is sensation in my skin, even in my lower body and the tops of my feet. After 4 years of mostly bed rest, I do still get tired easily - but it is a pure physical tiredness, completely different from the staticky white noise of crashing, and followed by deep and refreshing sleep.

While I did get myself out of hell by other means before I tried Shafaw, I was not well and not functional, and always feared slipping back into the pit. When I Herxed after my first few Shafaw sessions, I felt I was getting somewhere; when I stopped Herxing (about round 5 or 6), I knew I was getting even further. Now I am well and getting more functional with each passing day.

I feel wonderful. Which is not to say ecstatically happy all the time (that would be obnoxious), but I now know how to acknowledge but not identify with pain and debility in the world and in my life, something which will get better with practice, and which feels like the basis for heaven on earth.

It's like I moved to a new house; my stuff needs unpacking, but I'm in a different place now. The core of what was holding my illness - and much more - in place got released, and it was not in a place or a way that I expected.

I had cascades of revelations after each session, and by the final one I was able to be in other dimensions yet also more present on earth. I have never experienced a healing quite like this: I have connection to my infinite self and my earthly self, in peaceful and powerful union. Shafaw energy feels so homey, yet so infinite.

I'm not sure if Shafaw would have worked for me if it wasn't so aesthetically beautiful. The poetic use of words, the resonant voice, the silent flows of energy - the subtlety and accuracy of sensibility. So beautiful that I think I may have turned into a Shafaw junkie...

With love and wonder,

Sunday
